

The Zahir is the University of York's cultural magazine. Written and edited by students, it covers a diverse range of topics, ranging from politics to music.

Advertising with the Zahir provides businesses with a great opportunity to gain access to students on the York campus, and support student development.

The magazine prints a minimum of 500 copies on a termly basis, with a estimated readership of 2000. The Zahir's web presence provides further exposure.
